DETAILED ACTION

Papers Received

Receipt is acknowledged of the applicant's response, received on 28 January 2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

The rejection of Claims 1-9 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kardys in view of Tipton et al. is maintained.

Response to Arguments

The applicant's arguments have been considered but are not considered to be persuasive.

Regarding the applicant's arguments against the motivation to combine the references of the prior art, it would seem unlikely that an applicant seeking a patent would disclose a novel or innovative feature of a claimed invention while simultaneously disclosing a fault with that same invention.

In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

The applicant's arguments are based on what the examiner believes to be a narrow interpretation of the prior art. It is the position of the examiner that one of ordinary skill in the art, giving both the prior art and the claims in their present form their broadest reasonable interpretation, would find the claimed invention obvious in view of the prior art. See MPEP § 2111 and 2123. The fact that ethyl lactate is disclosed as a solvent along with approximately twenty other solvents in the Tipton reference is not found to be persuasive. At which point would the number of solvents listed cause the combined disclosure of the prior art to cease to be obvious? Five solvents? Ten solvents? It is the position of the examiner that one of ordinary skill in the art would be able to devise a vitamin composition in accordance with the instantly claimed invention with only a reasonable amount of experimentation. The rejection is maintained.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

Art Unit: 1615

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
